The Carmel Pine Cone

Horse and buggy days returned to Carmel last weekend with modern trimmings. The latter included protest marchers bearing placards opposing the operation of a carriage concession from two parking places on a city street. The picture above shows Robert Taylor and Bill Tache attempting to park their horse and carriage in the disputed territory. Leader of the protest was William C. Phelps who gained the aid of youthful pickets. Despite the rumpus, tourists (at right) patronized the new attraction. The city council approved a return of "carriage trade" some time ago. Only a taxi company objected then.

Editor's Column

Less than half of the registered voters in Carmel went to the polls to elect two city councilmen on Tuesday.

Those who cast ballots gave Mayor Herbert Blanks 200 more votes than the other successful

Arts Commission To Present Temianka Octet On April 23

BY GUNNAR NORBERG

A great treat for Carmel music lovers is the return, after an interval of years, of the world famous performer and conductor, Henri Temianka, to Sunset Center auditorium on April 23.

Directing an octet composed of leading musicians, drawn from the membership of the California Chamber Symphony, Temianka will direct a program which will principally feature two long works. The compositions are Brahms' Sextet, Opus 18, and the Mendelssohn Octet, Opus 20.

Members of the Temianka Octet, in addition to Mr. Temianka, are Meyer Bello, viola; Douglas Davis, cello; Bonnie Douglas, violin; Myra Kestenbaum, viola; Bernard Kundell, violin; Harold Schneller, cello; and Paul Shure, violin.

In addition to his current role as founder-director of the already widely known California Chamber Symphony, which has made three extensive concert tours of the United States and Canada since its formation in 1960, Temianka has won renown throughout Europe as well as America both as a performer and conductor, having formed his first chamber orchestra in London, where he also made his first recordings. Some years ago he appeared in Carmel as leader of the celebrated Paganini Quartet.

The Carmel Arts Commission is presenting the octet concert in cooperation with the California Arts Commission. The Carmel commission will pay $400, the state commission $600, of the cost of the concert. Because the city and the state are underwriting much of the cost, tickets for the Temianka concert are modestly priced. General admission tickets are $1.50; student tickets, $1.00.

'Keep Athletics' Parents, Teachers Advise Trustees

Just before midnight last night, deafening applause followed the announcement that Palo Colorado School will remain open for another year. This unanimous decision of the board of education of the Carmel Unified district came as a result of an announcement from Lester D. Hazell that a private campaign to raise $1,000 had been oversubscribed and more than covered the saving which the board hoped to save by closing the one-room facility down the coast.

But this was the only joyous note encountered in discussion of ten percent across the board budget reductions made imperative by the failure of a 70 cent override tax last month. Long and controversial debate was encountered over the proposal to do away with the interscholastic athletic program at Carmel High School (cost $17,500). No opposition to a decision to eliminate the summer school program at the high school was expressed (savings $7,500).

Unanimously, the board voted to eliminate all school bus transportation for pupils who live not less than five miles from any school facility, thus saving $45,900, also to stop providing replacements for custodians who are on vacation (cost $3,000).

The board decided to consider acting upon the elimination of one administrator and an elementary librarian in a closed personnel session (savings $20,000).

Held for later consideration when the overall financial picture of the district is clearer were a $10,000 maintenance matter at the high school; shortening the high school daily schedule to save $42,000; and combining Woods School with River School to save $47,000.

At midnight, Chairman Dr. Newton closed the meeting with three items still unconsidered. These were a $20,000 expenditure for library books, eliminating the English workshop for teachers and eliminating one teacher at Tularcitos School, another at Captain Cooper.

The budget cuts proposed last night would enable the board to maintain as high level an educational program as possible consisting

Taxpayers Assoc. Offers To Study School Finances

Speaking as president of the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association, Harold C. Arnot, last night, told the board of education that this organization, which successfully campaigned to defeat the 70 cent override tax, will undertake study of the financial condition of the Carmel Unified School District which faces a deficit of $130,000 unless drastic cuts are made in educational and operational programs.

He also told the board of a proposal to establish a "Carmel School District Fund, or Foundation," to which one third of the district's voters, approximately 3,000 persons, will willingly subscribe $50-$60 per year to a tax deductible fund, controlled by a locally elected board, and the funds used exclusively to finance approved special projects of the school district.

Such a fund, he added, will provide additional funds without placing an additional tax burden on persons unable to pay increased taxation such as the defeated override. The fund would also serve to bring large groups of interested citizens into close contact with school district efforts.

In discussing the proposed study, Mr. Arnot emphasized that, to be effective, representatives of the taxpayers association should have free access to all necessary figures and permission to visit personnel and buildings.

Areas in which he proposed specific study were the district's operating deficit, the cash reserve and new educational programs. The operating deficit cost should be broken down into individual school units and then separate accounting presented for other activities, he claimed. Secondly, it should be clearly stated (a) what the cash reserve was for and (b) limited requirements for the current fiscal year given. New educational programs should be geared to funds available, not ideas proposed, he emphasized.

"Ask the people to help, you will be agreeably surprised," he observed to the board about both of his proposals.

In answer to a question from Trustee Roxanna Blanks, Mr. Arnot stated that a study approved by the taxpayers association would involve "getting people who knew something about the individual parts" of the school district's budget classifications with an "ex-

'Glass Menagerie' Production At White Oaks Is Interesting

BY DOROTHY REED

"The Glass Menagerie," Tennessee Williams' "memory play," had its debut on Broadway just about 20 years ago. Its current revival at the White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley is an interesting exercise in derivations. Amanda, the run-down southern belle, is obviously a preliminary sketch for some of Williams' later, more violent ladies of the same background. As acted by Karen Kondan in this production, it is impossible not to feel that this Amanda has picked up much of her style from famous stage and movie interpretations of these more recent heroines.

The play is Amanda's vehicle, though it is named for her daughter's hobby and is an apology for her son, who presumably represents the playwright. She is an early prototype of the vampire-mother so much with us in the theatre lately, who feeds her own frustrations by swallowing the lives of her children. Compared again with later versions, Amanda is more bewildered and protesting than wicked. Miss Kondan overdoes it a bit, coming down with exaggerated impact on the most witless trivialities. Granted that Amanda is seen through the eyes of her son who magnifies her faults to excuse his ultimate desertion of her, the effect is weakened when her peevishness goes so far as to slip over into the comic.

Laura, the daughter, is a cripple whose physical handicap, coupled with her mother's domination, have made her pathologically shy. Rather than face any encounter with actual human beings, she spends her time with her collection of miniature glass animals. Again the part just misses—Sandra Lundwall, who plays it, is a sturdy-looking young woman and Laura is a hysteric; her almost mystical ecstasy in the companionship of her animals and her stomach-churning fear of reality never really project. Miss Lundwall is best when the one "gentleman caller" of her experience turns out to be the boy she admired in high school and she believes for a little while that he is interested in her. This is the scene, however, where Laura behaves most nearly like a normal girl.

Dave Wynne as Jim, the young man whose visit raises such hopes in Laura's mother, and inevitably in Laura herself, introduces a very down-to-earth note into the atmosphere. He has unabashed confidence in his own future and a certainty that he can handle any situation. He draws Laura so far out of her shell that they dance together; a tiny glass unicorn is knocked to the floor and loses its horn; Jim remembers that he is engaged to another girl and must go to meet her.

If the symbolism of the unicorn's becoming "just another horse" means that Laura will become just another person after this single contact, the performance isn't convincing. In fact, Laura and her mother seem to have no future at all. Tom, the story's narrator, has been longing to escape the smothering life imposed on him by the need to support his mother and sister, and Amanda's irrational fury when Laura's one chance turns out to be a dud gives him the final push out of their lives. He never sees them again, he says, but obviously they stay in his conscience until he writes this play in self-justification.

Shirley Eoff, the director, has created many moving tableaux which are effectively lighted by Don Mulderick. The set by Gale Peterson and costumes by Corliss Nickerson are faithful to the era of the late Thirties when the play takes place.

In putting on this piece, the players have invited comparison with some of the most experienced and talented performers of the century. It is not surprising that they fall somewhat short of perfect. In spite of the criticisms

Letter To Editor

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

Kindly renew the enclosed subscription for my husband which had been established by my late brother, Andrew C. Wiemann. We enjoy your paper so very much, not to mention your charming community. The subscription shall continue on from year to year because of the delight we derive from it.

Elizabeth C. Dierks

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

On behalf of the Carmel Unified School District may I express my personal thanks and appreciation for your untiring efforts in the override election. Your dedication to youngsters and education is encouraging and your continued support will result in a finer educational experience for the students in the Carmel Unified School District.

In retrospect, I feel we did what we could to honestly inform the citizenry of the needs, goals, and aims of the CUSD. We will continue to operate the best educational program possible regardless of the election outcome, but will be somewhat handicapped by the lack of funds.

I felt the coverage by the Carmel Pine Cone was superb. Your support, interest and knowledge on the problems that face the school district were much appreciated by all of us and I am gratified to see that people take a firm stand on the education of youngsters, and to see that the reporting was done in a warm and interesting manner. Again, thank you for your support.

Sincerely,
Medill Blair
Superintendent

Valley Theatre Opens Fund Drive

A goal of $60,000 has been set by White Oaks Theatre and Training Center for the Performing Arts in launching its first annual fund-raising drive.

Recognized by both federal and state governments as a non-profit, educational and cultural institution, the theatre, located in Carmel Valley, seeks financial support to continue and develop its year-round training and production activities.

SPRING CONCERT OF MPO CHORUS

The Monterey Peninsula College Chorus, under the direction of Dr. Harvey Marshall, will present its 16th annual spring concert on Sunday at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Monterey; and repeat the performance on April 24 at the First Presbyterian Church, Monterey.

Both performances will begin at 8:15 p.m., and the public is invited to attend without charge.

above, this is a good production, of special interest to students of the theatre and to young people who weren't around for the original.

Carmel Students Named 1966-67 State Scholars

Eight Carmel area students have been selected as state scholars for 1966-67, the California State Scholarship Commission announced this week. They are David A. Erickson, Bruce A. Perry, Janet E. Sheingold, Robert D. Watson and Lawrence P. Hearn of Carmel High School; Carmelita M. Concepcion and Carol J. Imwalle of Santa Catalina School for Girls; and Mark M. Zanides, York School.

Selected from 23,000 applicants, these high school seniors are eligible to receive from the state up to $1,500 next year for tuition and fees at private universities of their choice. They are all within the highest six percent in college aptitude testing. Each of the state scholars is entitled to apply for annual renewal of the awards granted this year, if a academic eligibility is maintained and need for financial assistance is proved.

ARTS COUNCIL PLANS TALK AT MPC

The Arts Coordinating Council, in conjunction with Monterey Peninsula College, will present Dr. William W. Melnitz, dean of the college of fine arts at U.C.L.A. on May 13 in the library assembly room on the MPC campus. Dr. Melnitz will speak on "The Problems and Prospects of the Arts" with special emphasis on developments in California.

The meeting, scheduled for 8:30 p.m., will be open to the public and questions and discussion of local arts developments will be welcome at the conclusion of Dr. Melnitz' address.

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

This past month P.G.&E., American Tel. & Tel. and several other companies issued bonds to the public that yielded over 5%; the highest yields for such top quality bonds since the early 1920s.

Could interest rates go higher? Many think of interest as the cost of money which inflation could drive higher along with the cost of groceries which my grocer thinks is rising at over 12% per year.

How to protect your money's purchasing power? Two possible answers:

1. A 6% withdrawal from one of the many mutual funds.

2. Mesabi Iron Trust, listed on New York Stock Exchange, whose business is expanding, price 13% yields 5½ with a good possibility of dividend increase this year, and a possible tax exemption on the dividend.

Art News . .

A one-man show of paintings by Howard Everett Smith, as well as a juried show of members' work, are being exhibited at the Carmel Art Association Galleries during April.

A Carmel resident, Howard Smith has exhibited in leading cities of the United States. His work is included in the collections of the U.S. Treasury Building, Boston University and Corcoran Art Gallery.

A noted painter of horses, he has portrayed Troublemaker, Man of War, Flowing Gold and Battleship. Howard Smith has painted portraits of four outstanding Californians, U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren, Robinson Jeffers, A. P. Giannini and General Joseph W. Stilwell. He is a member of the Carmel Art Association, the Bohemian Club, the Art Students League and the American Watercolor Society.

A formal blacktie preview and presentation of awards will be held on April 21 at Hacienda Carmel for the first annual Pictorial Art Festival which will feature the work of residents.

There will be seven cash Awards of Merit for paintings and drawings in any medium up to 25 x 30 inches and one cash award for "thumbnail" exhibitions, not larger than 8 x 10 inches.

Following the preview and presentation of awards, the public is invited to view the entries and winning exhibits.

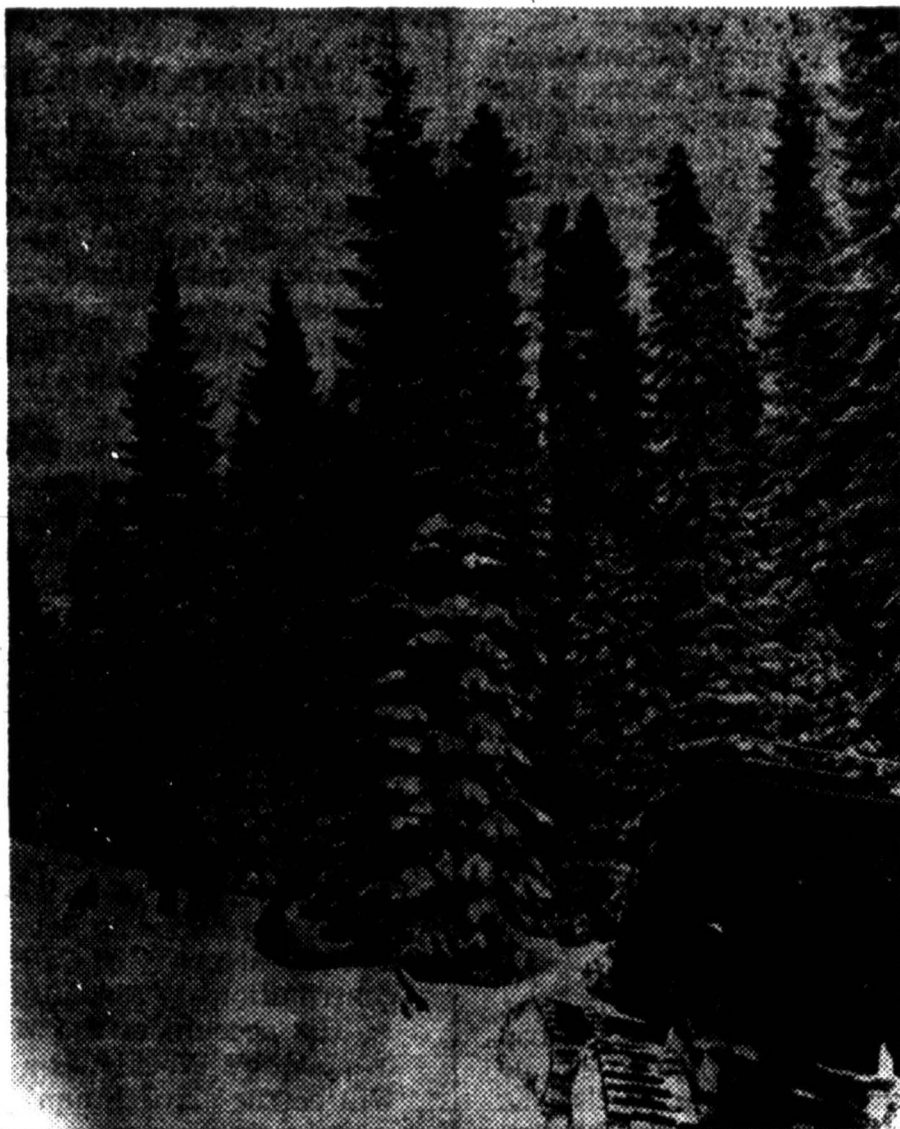

Wynn Bullock, nationally known photographer, will discuss his experimental work, in which he creates a picture with extra enlargement, reflected light and other techniques he has developed, at the general meeting of the Carmel Crafts Guild tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the Carmel Art Association Galleries. He will illustrate his talk with color slides. Members may bring interested guests.

Robert Limber, during April, is showing examples of his metal sculpture in the Crafts Guild case in Harrison Memorial Library.

Representing the Monterey Peninsula in the annual statewide juried show of the Santa Cruz Art League, Inc., on display through May, are Anne Carlson, Jan Hamacher, Ralph Jacobs, Rene Lavenant, Carl McDowell, Irene Robinson, Albert Wascher, Yvette de Petra, Bernice Huber, Nancy Johnson, Y. S. Lim, Art Riley, Mildred Schmidtman and Beatrice Wheelock.

Mildred Schmidtman won second prize in the oil division and Beatrice Wheelock second prize in watercolors for their work in this exhibition.

Paintings by Nels Eric Oback, associate professor of art at San Jose State College, are currently on display in the American Federation of Arts Gallery on Lincoln

NATION'S TREE

Surrounded now by snow in California's Sierra region, this 65-foot true red fir is scheduled to be harvested in the fall for a rail trip to Washington, D.C. There it will become a yuletide symbol for the free world in the 1966 Christmas Pageant of Peace. Inspecting the nearly-perfect specimen of the tree, popularly known as a silvertip, are representatives of Pacific Gas and Electric Company. The stately fir has grown on PG&E land as part of a continuing forest-watershed management program. This will be California's first tree contribution to the capital's Christmas pageant.

south of Ocean.

The paintings are all watercolors but Mr. Oback adds glue to the medium to make it more permanent and to give it more body for texturing. The glue also acts as a binder for natural pigments which he often finds when he is working on location. He grinds down charcoal, brick dust, various clays, almost anything with an interesting color that will work as pigment and uses them with most unusual results.

Works by well-known artists are already arriving at Beacon House, the Monterey Peninsula's rehabilitation center for alcoholics, for its seventh annual art auction on May 1 in the Terrace Room at the Mark Thomas Inn.

"With works being contributed by such distinguished Peninsula artists as Emile Norman, John Bolt Morse, Elizabeth Maddux and Barbara West, we are confident we will have even more fine paintings and sculpture than last year," says Dr. Donald Taugher, member of the board of directors of Beacon House and coordinating chairman for the art auction.

Theil Hampton, who recently became president of the Beacon House board, is finance chairman. Other appointments include Marjorie Allen, technical consultant; Mrs. John Shephard, poster distribution; Ivar Sivertsen, promotion; Mrs. Gordon Larson, hostess committee, and Rod Holmgren, publicity.

A one-man show of works by Elise Beaton, former Carmel resident, is currently on view in the Victorian Restaurant of the old National Hotel at Nevada City. The exhibit consists of 21 oils and watercolors, most portraying the vivid colors of the changing seasons in the Sierra foothill country and the higher regions. This is the artist's second exhibit in Nevada City and her fourth one-man show in the Mother Lode area since November.

Dr. George J. Faul of Carmel, president of Monterey Peninsula College, has been elected to the board of trustees of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts.

Mrs. Virginia Zehm of Carmel is one of 15 California housewives whose paintings are on exhibit in the Los Angeles area from April 11 through May 6.

Mrs. Zehm's "Rocky Point" is among the works flown to Los Angeles from Washington, D.C., where they were first shown in the office of Senator Thomas H. Kuchel.

They will be displayed for a week at a time at Bank of America branches in downtown Los Angeles, Pasadena, Beverly Hills and Panorama City.

Explorarama Film
On France April 22

The Explorers Club of San Francisco will show a prize-winning travel film, "France," on April 22 at Sunset Center auditorium.

The feature-length color movie will be narrated in person by its photographer, Ed Lark, and there will be only the one showing at 8:15 p.m. Highlights will include not only the familiar areas of Paris and the Riviera, but also scenes of the little known provinces and the French countryside.

Tickets for the film, which recently won first prize at the Paris Travel Festival, are now available at Central Box Office.

Mrs. Rowe In New Quarters

Mrs. Nettie G. Rowe, a gallant lady who will celebrate her 95th birthday in June, has moved from Community Hospital to the new Skyline Convalescent Hospital where she is recuperating well and would be most happy to see her friends.

Frequent visitors to her quarters are her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Rowe, and her two daughters, Mrs. Robert Spencer and Mrs. Arthur Plaxton of Carmel. Expected here soon is her son, Robert, of Everett, Washington. Another son and former Carmel resident, Ted Rowe, is now medical director for the United Nations Trust Territory on the Island of Yap.

Here From Hawaii

Mrs. Tim Morrow of Lahaina on the Island of Maui flew here for an overnight visit on her way from Southern California to San Francisco and a return flight to the Hawaiian Islands. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Porter and the mother of Milton A. Marquard Jr., all of Carmel Valley. She reported that under her sponsorship monthly art shows are now being presented in Lahaina.

Visitors From North Dakota

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cobean of Jamestown, North Dakota, spent a pleasant few days here this week as the guests of Mr. Cobean's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cook. In addition to the usual Peninsula sightseeing, Mr. Cobean, who raises harness racing horses as a hobby, spent a full day inspecting the facilities and fine horses at Laguna Seca Ranch. His wife, owner of a gift shop in Jamestown, joined Mary Cook for a tour of Carmel shops with a view to importing some new ideas to North Dakota.

The Cobean's left Wednesday to visit relatives in Los Angeles before driving home.

Hilo Is To Their Taste

Cliff and Wendy Ograin think their new home in Hilo, Hawaii, is wonderful, according to Wendy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Draper of Carmel. The Ograins, who have been residents of Honolulu since their marriage at Kona in December, 1962, moved to the "Big Island" recently when Cliff was appointed head of the sales division for Shell Oil Company for Hawaii and Maui. Wendy writes that life in Hilo is enchanting and that she is particularly delighted to be able to visit sections such as the Kona Coast and the island of Maui. Cliff's new position involves a great deal of travel throughout the two islands, since he is responsible for the servicing of industries as well as the company's retail stations.

Married In Reno

Faculty and students at Middle school learned when they returned to school on Monday that Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, instructor in French, had been married on April 7 at the county courthouse in Reno, Nevada, to Thomas Frederick Tavernetti. This week, the Tavernettis are busy preparing to move into a home in the Monte Vista area of Monterey, also readying Mrs. Tavernetti's home on San Carlos Street for rental. Mr. Tavernetti is associated with the sales staff of British Motors in Monterey.

Yodee Johnson Is Back

Mrs. Howard (Yodee) Johnson of St. Paul, Minnesota, has returned to resume her annual winter stay on the Peninsula after an interim in the warm desert air of Palm Springs. The former Carmelite, who was widely entertained after her arrival here before Christmas, is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul Flanders of Hatton Fields, and Mrs. Paul Whitman of Pebble Beach.

Jane Harris Married

Mrs. J. David Reed has planned a small dinner party Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Siverstein of Carmel, who were married in San Jose on March 26. The new Mrs. Siverstein is the former Jane Harris, president of The Church in the Round.

Dr. Reed is currently in Stuttgart, Germany, on a research project of the Stanford Research Institute. In May, Mrs. Reed plans to visit her husband in Europe.

A New Faia In the Fold

Hilary Meade Faia, representing the fifth generation of a family to call Carmel home, was joyfully welcomed at Community Hospital last Thursday by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Faia III.

Hilary, whose sister Melissa had her fourth birthday in January, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meade Williams (writer Mona Williams) and of Dr. and Mrs. John Faia Jr. of Carmel. Also a local resident is her paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Ruby Mars. She has one aunt, Mrs. Ben (Karen) Lyon of Carmel, and three uncles, Chris Williams of Brooklyn, New York, Ron Faia, attending University of Southern California Dental School, and Tom Faia, a student at the University of Oregon.

Two great-uncles are Jesse Lynch (Lyn) Williams Jr. of Carmel and Laidlaw Williams of Carmel Highlands. Jessica Bryant of Carmel and Farrell Williams of Brooklyn are her cousins.

The new baby's great-grandfather was the late Jesse Lynch Williams, author and Pulitzer prize-winning playwright.

Orne Hulen Til Musum

The musical name above, meaning Eagle Cave of Musum, was chosen many years ago by Mrs. Roy Chanslor's grandmother for the rustic cottage with a distinctly Norwegian flavor which she built below Carmel Valley Village when non-farm buildings were a novelty. "Musum" was the grandmother's maiden name and Eagle Cave symbolized the peaceful retreat above the river which it was for her, and has remained for several generations of the family.

On Saturday, Mrs. Chanslor invited a few close friends to join her at Orne Hulen, surrounded now with spreading oaks and masses of wisteria, for a delightful buffet luncheon. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. John P. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meade Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Dorothy Stephenson and Jane Vial.

Broadbuses Change Residence

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Broadbush have deserted Blue Vista, their residence on San Antonio and Ninth Streets, for the comforts of Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove. The popular couple, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary here in 1960, are active members of the Church of the Wayfarer.

Jeff Crichton On Lamar

Fireman Damage Controlman Jeff Crichton, USCG, is one of the young men currently serving his country. When Jeff graduated recently from the Damage Controlman School at the Coast Guard Training Center in Groton, Connecticut, he was assigned to the Coast Guard cutter Lamar, whose home port is Monterey. A reserve training ship, the Lamar is currently on a cruise to Seattle.

Between graduation from training and his new assignment, Jeff was able to spend a few days in Carmel with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Crichton, and to visit with some of his former Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College classmates.

Police Reports

A local resident, after threatening to shoot himself and his wife last night, apparently attempted suicide at his Carmel office at approximately 4:20 a.m. today.

At 4:23 a.m. Carmel police received a call from the man's wife, stating that her husband had phoned from his office to say he had taken an overdose of sleeping pills and that she wished him taken to the hospital to have his stomach pumped. The man opened the door of his office to the investigating police officer and admitted having taken an overdose of phenobarbital, stating that he was depressed over marital difficulties.

The police officer continued talking to the attempted suicide until the Red Cross ambulance, operated by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, arrived to transport him to Community Hospital, where he was reported in satisfactory condition this morning.

At the request of the wife, seven shotguns were removed from the couple's residence to the custody of the police.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Arthur Braudrick complained to Carmel police that a portable TV set had been taken from her home sometime during the morning. The complainant stated that a juvenile had appeared earlier at her place of work to ask for the return of the set which he had loaned to her son, saying that it was a stolen item. Police called the father of the youth, who is on probation. The father accompanied an officer to the suspect's residence, where the TV set was found. Investigation established that the set was not a stolen one, as claimed by the juvenile, who explained that he thought it would be easier to get it back if he so stated. The set is at the police station pending verification of ownership.

BIRCH SOCIETY OFFICIAL TO SPEAK AT MPC

Reed Benson, Washington representative for The John Birch Society, will appear tomorrow as the third speaker in Monterey Peninsula College's spring evening lecture series on "The Significance of the Far Right."

The oldest son of former United States Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, he will discuss "The John Birch Society and the Right Wing" at 8 p.m. in the Armory on campus.

Writers Who Made Carmel Famous

The first of a series of displays featuring famed writers who have lived in Carmel is on exhibition in the main reading room of the Harrison Memorial Library.

For the next two weeks, the late James Hopper will be featured under the heading "For 50 Years Giants Have Walked the Streets of Carmel." His portrait by the late Edward Weston of Carmel, famous photographer, is included in the exhibit which also shows some of Mr. Hopper's books.

James Hopper came to Carmel the year following the San Francisco earthquake of 1906. The home he established in the Eighty Acres became a gathering place for the great literary persons of his era.

In his youth, he was a member of the University of California football team and took an active part in the first stealing of the Stanford axe in 1899. He later coached the Cal football team after graduating from the University of California law school and being admitted to the state bar in 1900.

He began his literary career as a newspaperman and was a foreign correspondent for Collier's magazine in France during World War I. His short stories and articles were published in national magazines over a long period. These and his books have been collected by Bancroft Library at the University of California to be preserved as important contributions to the culture of this state.

His account of the 1906 earthquake and fire, published in Harper's Weekly, is a classic of vivid reporting. Monday will be the sixtieth anniversary of this disaster.

Herman Phillips

Herman Jesse Phillips, a recent resident of Hacienda Carmel, Carmel Valley, died last night in a local hospital after a lengthy period of illness.

Born June 28, 1905, in San Luis Obispo County, he was a lifelong resident of California except for ten years when he made his home in Olympia, Washington.

Mr. Phillips, an engineer with the Pacific Telephone Company for 34 years, came here from San Jose, having resided also in Sacramento and Saratoga.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church of Carmichael and belonged also to Olympia, Washington, Lodge No. 1, F&AM.

Survivors include his wife, Vera B. Phillips of Hacienda Carmel; three daughters, Sister Priscilla Ann of Burbank, Mrs. Alice Yamashita of Monterey and Mrs. Martha Roten of Salinas; two brothers, Charles Phillips of Oakland and Albert Phillips of Santa Rosa; and one grandchild.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, with Dr. Charles Link officiating. Entombment will follow in El Carmelo Mausoleum, Pacific Grove.

The Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mr. Phillips may do so to the American Cancer Research Society, Box 1028, Monterey.

Leaches Europe Bound

Rupert and Poppy Leach leave Carmel Saturday for New York, where they will board the SS France April 28 for England, then visit France, Sweden, Germany and Holland.

Mr. Leach will be engaged in a special photographic project involving over 1,000 of the world's great Chinese art treasures, largely jades, ceramics and bronzes. Ultimately, the photographs will appear in stereo color, with catalog and text, in five volumes which are part of a monumental work begun by his close friend, William Gruber, internationally known stereographer and inventor of the View-Master system. Before his death last year, Mr. Gruber had devoted three years to the project and had already photographed some of the great collections in Europe, the United States, Canada and Taiwan.

Other important collections, including that of the King of Sweden, remain to be photographed and Mr. Leach will travel to Stockholm in May for this purpose. The Leaches will visit Paris, London, Amsterdam and, later in the year, Honolulu, Tokyo and several museums in the eastern United States to record on film still others objets d'art.

The photographer will be working with Sir Harry Garner, world renowned British authority on Chinese art, who is selecting the pieces to be photographed and who will write the text and catalog in collaboration with an American connoisseur.

The Leaches look forward to their interesting journey as well as to their return to Carmel in August.

Diplomat Honored

M. Rashid Ahmad, consul general of Pakistan, and his wife were the guests of honor April 9 at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. David Gill of Pebble Beach. Other guests included the Hans von Rich-

AUGUST WEDDING

Agnes Ann Brimhall, above, a graduate of both Sunset and Carmel High Schools, is making plans for her wedding in August to Warren R. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips of San Francisco. The future bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brimhall of San Bruno.

Agnes, who will graduate in June from San Francisco State College, is the sister of Alice Janet Brimhall and George Brimhall Jr.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Northwestern University, is studying for his doctorate at the School of International Relations, University of Southern California. He is affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity. Janet Phillips of San Francisco is his sister.

ters, Fletcher Duttons, Arthur Ramseys, Tod Singletons, Howard Clarks and Mrs. Helen Arnold.

Dieter Thoma was also present. He is visiting our country as a guest of the U.S. State Department. Mr. Thoma is from Cologne, Germany, where he has been a newspaper editor and is now head of the current events department for the West German Radio. He expressed considerable interest in the contrast between our advertising sponsored radio and television programs. Although he admired our very elaborate programs, he felt the West German programs tend to be more intellectually uplifting. Mrs. Ann Porzig drove Mr. Thoma around the Carmel area.

Harwood Nelson Trains

Harwood Nelson, now a seaman in the U.S. Coast Guard, is currently attending the engineman school at the USCG Training Center in Groton, Connecticut. According to his mother, Mrs. Elsbeth T. Nelson of Carmel, Harwood is tremendously interested in the course which covers the operation, maintenance and repair of internal combustion, diesel and gasoline engines, as well as air conditioning and refrigeration equipment.

Seaman Nelson, who was a student at Monterey Peninsula College before entering the Coast Guard about two years ago, was last home on leave in December, after which his mother drove back East with him to visit friends in the vicinity of Groton.

On WSU Honor Roll

It seems safe to assume that married life agrees with Mrs. Joseph Thomas, the former Marilyn Hurd, who has been named to the fall semester honor roll at Washington State University where her husband is a teaching assistant in chemistry while working on his doctorate.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hurd of Carmel Valley, Marilyn graduated from Carmel High School and was enrolled at U.C. Davis before the young couple's wedding last August at St. John's Chapel, Del Monte.

Spring Dance At Beach Club

The opening of the Spring and Summer social season at the Beach Club will begin tomorrow with the Spring Dance at the club.

Committee members for the event are Mrs. John G. Julian, Mrs. Mark Raggett, Mrs. Barbara Tripp, Mrs. J. Ritchie Dunn, Mrs. Jack J. Miller and Mrs. James Jenkins. The group met last week to make plans for the party, which will begin at 7 p.m. with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres followed by an elaborate buffet supper and dancing to the music of Mike Marotta.

Reservations may be made by phoning 624-3811.

Smog Fugitives Visited

Mr. and Mrs. George Leppert of Los Angeles were here last week on one of their frequent visits to their favorite village, not in the least perturbed by the fog after the recent smog alert in Southern California. With them was Mrs. Leppert's mother, Mrs. Mayme Dinsmore.

Long subscribers to the Pine Cone, the Lepperts dropped in Wednesday to meet the staff and see how a weekly newspaper is put together. Having purchased property here some time ago, the visitors are looking forward to the time when they can call Carmel home.

At Spring Conference

Dr. George J. Faul, president of Monterey Peninsula College, attended the California Junior College Association Spring conference in Bakersfield last week. Fletcher Dutton, MPC Faculty Association president, H. Duncan Sprague, director of student activities, and Robert J. Lynch, MPC student body president, also were present at the conference.

Herrs In New Home

The picturesque stone house just completed by Carl Bensberg on Rio and Lasuen, across from the Carmel Mission, has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Herr, owners of La Marmite restaurant. The Herrs, who moved from their former residence Sunday, have two daughters, Cheryl, a fifth grader at Middle School, and Diane, in her sophomore year at Carmel High School.

Enjoyed Desert Trip

Before the influx of tourists began, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catalan, owners of the Lamp Lighters Inn, and the inn's managers, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warren, took a holiday through the desert country as far as Scottsdale, Arizona. Unfortunately, rather than dry air and warming sun, they found rain and even a little snow dogging their trail. This, however, does not seem to have spoiled their enjoyment of the changing landscape through which they traveled.

During their stay in Palm Springs, the two couples took the awesome Aerial Tramway ride from the desert floor to the towering peaks of the San Jacinto Mountains. The two and a half mile ride, taking a little more than 15 minutes, passes through five botanical and geological zone changes and is compared to a trip from Sonora, Mexico, to Anchorage, Alaska.

Annual Easter Picnic

Sunshine flooded over the wildflowers in the meadow and dappled the grass beneath the great oaks in a hayfield high above Carmel Valley Sunday for the Phil Cordreys' sixth annual Easter picnic, which began at "eggactly 11:30 a.m.", in accordance with the clever lino cut invitations sent out by "Tommy" Cordrey.

Some 80 people of assorted sizes, most rather small, gathered to search for brightly colored eggs hidden in the lush grass before heaping their plates with assorted delicacies brought by the adult guests for the buffet tables. Later, everyone joined in a family baseball game, sack races and other contests demanding more energy than skill.

An Easter Buffet

Paul J. Vial's home was fragrant with flowers from his garden Sunday evening when his guests arrived to share the delicious buffet supper he served. Gathered to toast their host, as well as Mrs. Lucille Canfield, whose birthday it was, were Mrs. Canfield's niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart of Mill Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brown, Mrs. Elayne Chanslor, Mrs. Jane Vial and Mr. and Mrs. George Willox.

The Batman Cometh

Everyone—but everyone—is getting pretty excited about the Batman Ball which will be sponsored by the American Federation of Arts at Hotel San Carlos on April 30. General chairman for the costume gala is Bob Bray, who has his co-chairman, William H. Godwin Jr., and his subcommittees working feverishly to make the party a success.

For $25 a couple, guests are guaranteed music for dancing, madcap fun in the bat cave and bat-watching the antics of others.

Assisting Mr. Bray are Will van der Sluis, Mrs. Robert Work and Mrs. Roderick Dewar, decorations; Ritchie Dunn, Ray Ramsey Jr., Dr. Charles Snorf, Dr. Girard Martin and Mrs. William Oberholtzer, tickets; Colden Whitman and Howard Allen, publicity; and Mrs. Walter Jennings, treasurer and ticket control.

Anyone wishing tickets or reservations may phone Mrs. Bray (624-9314), AFA headquarters (624-2918) or Bernard McMennamin, manager of the San Carlos Hotel (375-2662). Tickets may also be obtained from any members of the ticket committee listed above.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Dorothy T. Colvin, Children's Librarian

Carmel is a cosmopolitan community. Representatives of countries from all over the world have chosen to visit this spot... many to spend the rest of their lives here. When I first came to Carmel two years ago, among the statistics that were quoted me, was the fact that one out of every three persons in Carmel will take a long trip every year. And a round trip to San Francisco is not included in this category! All of which goes to prove that English is not the only language spoken here... even teen-age.

Our children's collection of books "in other languages" has had a fairly good circulation. But the titles published in this country do seem a bit school-oriented, a little milked and much contrived. Then an exciting bibliography from a foreign book store arrived. And since foreign book publications are a rarity for librarians to examine, I am sincere when I say this list was exciting. Now buying from a list is a lot like buying a dress from a catalog. But we live dangerously at Harrison Memorial. We took a chance. And we're glad we did. (Just to relieve any anxious minds that funds are being spent without due consideration, we are given the privilege of returning any titles that do not meet with approval!) But what fun we have had adding the first arrivals of the 75 initial titles we ordered. We say initial because we hope that the demand will justify augmenting the collection. Our first order includes books in Spanish, French, German, Dutch, Italian, Swedish and Japanese. Our general impression of these children's books published in other countries is that the art work and general format is more childlike and imaginative than the general run of comparative books published in this country. And our money went farther in the foreign market. Of course these are publishers' bindings. But even so they cost less.

Here are a few that might catch your fancy, as they did ours.

FRENCH

ALPHABET POUR LES TOUT PETITS by Marcelle Verite. A delightful alphabet book with a religious theme done in beautiful gold and strong colors.

UN SOIR SANS LUNE by Noelle Lavaivre. A humorous picture book and story of a stubborn somnambulist elephant. Imaginative illustrations by author really tell the story completely without the text.

JE LIS, TU LIS by Marie-Anne Hameau. In three volumes we have "beginning to read" books in French for either foreign or French children who are learning to read... in French.

ABC EN RIMES and SONS EN RIMES ET CHANSONS by Lucienne Gomot. Two small volumes with accompanying records will help with pronunciation in a fun-way.

SPANISH
EL PAJARO DE NIEVE by Carola Soler. A charming book of poetry and stories for young readers from ages 6 to 10.

GERMAN

DAS HASSLICHE ENTLEIN by Hans Christian Andersen. You may have guessed it was a fairy tale, from the author. It happens to be the Ugly Duckling. And whether you know German or not, the illustrations will delight you.

ITALIAN

LE AVVENTURE DI PINOCCHIO by Carlo Colodi illustrated by Attilio Mussino. What collection of children's books of other lands would be complete without dear Pinocchio? I remember having this book read to me (eons ago!) from the original by a new student of Italian. It took us all summer for that translation!

JAPANESE

HIPPO'S BOAT by Eriko Kishida. I have saved for the last what this reviewer feels is best. An artful picture book of animals in a zoo setting. We should have added this one to our picture book collection... for its pure delight... even if no Japanese parent ever borrows it to read to his child. With this tempting sample we leave. I won't stretch the point too far by taking my leave in the several tongues. Just drop by and borrow a book or two.

P.S. On order are a number of paperbacks that will interest young AND older readers alike, we feel sure. Be looking for:

"Say It in..." series, 17 different languages to be exact in seventeen different books.

"Say It in English"... for Italian-speaking, German-speaking and Spanish-speaking peoples.

"Beginning Spanish Self Taught" and German and Spanish.

"Writing English: a Composition Text in English as a Foreign Language"

"First Steps in Reading English: a Book for Beginning Readers of All Ages."

These books are shelved in the young people's room, along with the foreign collection "in another language."

A bientot. (I couldn't resist.)

VETERANS WIDOWS PLAN MEETING

The Monterey Peninsula chapter of the Widows of World War I Veterans will meet Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Recreation Center behind the Pacific Grove City Hall. All eligible widows are invited to attend.

Posthumous Degree Granted Major Arnn

"The walking major"—the late Major John O. Arnn of Carmel—was posthumously awarded a bachelor of science degree by the University of Maryland's Far East Division in Tokyo recently.

At the personal request of his widow, and by the courtesy of General William C. Westmoreland, Commanding General, U. S. Forces, Vietnam, Captain James B. Conway, neighbor of the major's parents in New Mexico, flew from the Republic of Vietnam to Tokyo to receive the award.

He was presented the diploma during the University of Maryland's graduation ceremonies at the Sanno Transient Billeting Facility in Tokyo and will forward the diploma to Mrs. Arnn.

Major Arnn, killed in Vietnam Christmas Eve when his jeep ran over a mine, had earned enough credits to receive the diploma.

Captain Conway and Major Arnn had been stationed together in Japan, Korea and Fort Bragg, North Carolina. In Vietnam, however, the two special forces soldiers were advisors at different camps.

The major became famous while in Japan, when he walked more than 2,000 miles to raise money for an orphanage in Beppu and other charities throughout Japan.

Talk On Vietnam For World Affairs Group

A consulting economist, Richard K. Lynn, who has spoken often in the San Francisco Bay area in support of the U.S. government's Vietnam policy, will address the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Brey Hall at Carmel High School.

As a discussion group leader of the World Affairs Council in San Francisco for the past several years, Mr. Lynn has acquired and will bring here a broad background on the Vietnam problem.

He is a graduate of Case Institute of Technology and Ohio State University. After doctoral work at Harvard Business School he joined the faculty of the University of California at Berkeley as a professor in the Graduate School of Business Administration, teaching corporation finance, investments, business fluctuations and forecasting.

Now as a full-time consulting economist in San Francisco, he is a member of a firm that advises large banks, insurance companies and corporations.

The title of his speech will be "Why United States Policy in Vietnam Makes Sense."

There will be a reception in the music room of the high school following Mr. Lynn's talk.

Carmel Weavers To Exhibit In Berkeley

Local handweavers who will exhibit work at the 14th Annual Conference of Northern California handweavers, April 23 and 24, at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley include Miss Alma Anderson, Miss Muriel Bastin, Mrs. Warren Crabtree, Mrs. Joni Clayton, Mrs. Joel Priest, Mrs. Anthony Torrison, Mrs. Rolf Ullestad, Mrs. Joseph Weston, and George Davis.

The work of these weavers has been accepted by a jury of the Crafts Guild and will enter in further general competition for awards with the other 19 weaving guilds participating this year.

"Nature, Our Greatest Designer" is the conference theme. The local group chose the abalone shell as their inspiration from which to design material and wall hangings.

The April 23 program may be attended by advance registration only. A $5 fee will include exhibits, jury reports, program, luncheon, fashion show and commercial displays. The conference theme will be illustrated by micro-photography and a talk on "Abstract Art in Nature" by Stennett S. Heaton. Howard Statoff, nationally known art authority, will introduce Mr. Heaton. Hours will be 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. For registration telephone Mrs. Joseph Weston, local coordinator, by April 15. Her number is 624-1657.

All exhibits will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at a fee of $1 on April 24. Demonstrations of newer trends in weaving will take place morning and afternoon.

Wildflower Show In Pacific Grove

The Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History will present its fifth Annual Wildflower Show tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. More than 300 freshly picked specimens of Monterey County flora will be on display. These will include specimens of some of the rarest plants known, as well as common varieties such as the California Poppy. Museum volunteers gather the flowers. They collect specimens from the top of the Santa Lucia Mountains to the coast, and from Southern Monterey County to the Pajaro River.

Today the museum was closed so that the staff could complete the arduous task of identifying and correctly labeling the specimens with scientific and recognized common names. This labor normally lasts far into the night.

The show may be seen on Friday and Saturday (10:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m.) and on Sunday (10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.).

The museum is located at the corner of Forest and Central Avenues. Admission is free.

Bay School Circus Saturday Offers Fun, Food And Frolic

Both children and adults will find entertainment Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. south of Carmel in the eucalyptus grove beside Highway One at San Jose Creek. The occasion will be the sixth annual Bay School Circus sponsored by the Carmel Parent Nursery School.

The pre-school, directed by Rosa (Mrs. Ephraim) Doner, occupies premises enlarged from the original eight-grade "little red school house" established 86 years ago.

The annual circus keeps alive an open house tradition of the old days. Special events will start at 11:30 o'clock with a performance by the Bay School Dancers, directed by Mrs. Helen Morgenrath who comes each week to instruct the tots.

Carlo the Clown will mystify and delight all ages at 11:45. Following his magic act, Carlo will have a special treat for children.

At 12:30, Sue Sally Hale of nearby Teetering on the Brink Stables will provide pony rides.

Other events of the Bay School Circus will be an exciting Indian Trail to explore, dart, fishing hole, ring toss, bean bag and ping pong games. Prizes will be goldfish. A Kiddie Koral will be provided for the very youngest visitors while their parents enjoy events.

Planned especially for adults will be sales of homemade baked goods, white elephants, plants and rummage. The latter will feature new rugs, also new sweaters in assorted sizes and colors donated by a manufacturer. Paper flowers, books and toys will also be offered for sale.

A circus lunch consisting of hot dogs, beans, salads, coffee and homecooked desserts will be available as well as popcorn, snow cones and lemonade.

Admission to the school grounds is free. Tickets for special events may be purchased at the gate.

Mrs. Frederick Nolan and Mrs. Richard Nolan are co-chairmen for this year's Bay Day Circus assisted by Mrs. Harold Price, Mrs. Bernard Angel and Mrs. James Bell, publicity.

Officers of the pre-school for the Spring term are Mrs. James Brady, president; Mrs. Don Kimble, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Clemens, secretary; Mrs. Russell Thompson, treasurer; and Mrs. Ray Simpson, secretary. The school is operated by the Carmel Unified School District under the adult education program.

Miles Bain

Funeral services were held Monday at the Paul Funeral Chapel, Pacific Grove, for former Carmel resident Miles Bain, a well known building contractor on the Peninsula since 1926. Mr. Bain, 71, died in a local hospital Saturday following a heart attack suffered two days earlier.

A native of Brainerd, Minnesota, he was born January 25, 1895.

For the past 10 years, Mr. Bain and his wife, Violet, made their home in Pacific Grove.

He was a member of the High 12 Club of Carmel and belonged also to the Masonic Lodge of Seattle, Washington.

In addition to his wife, survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Paul Geiger of Altadena; two sisters, Mrs. Major Schofield of Miami and Mrs. C. R. Christie of Seattle; a brother, L. K. Bain of Oakland; four grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews. A son, Gordon, was killed during World War II while serving as a pilot with the British Royal Air Force.

Interment took place in El Carmelo Cemetery. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

PRESENT AT RADIO SHOW

Among those present at the Herb Jepko Nitecap Show which was broadcast Friday night from Mark Thomas' Outrigger Restaurant were (left to right) Mrs. Jepko, Carmel City Clerk Hugh Bayless and Mrs. Bayless.

Herb Jepko broadcasts nightly over Radio KSL in Salt Lake City. Jerry Winters, pianist and song stylist at the Outrigger, entertained on the recent Jepko anniversary show and took with him to Utah letters to read during the broadcast. These were from Penicula mayors and invited Herb Jepko and his staff to come here to do a remote broadcast. Arrangements were made by Gordon Reid and Mark Thomas for this show to originate at the Outrigger. KSL staff members were guests of the Mark Thomas Inn while here. Invited to view the show were over 200 members of Nitecaps International Association, a service group, who came from all over the United States, Canada and Hawaii. Marian Fischer of Carmel is president of the local NIA chapter. Cypress Nightstand, and was one of those interviewed by Herb Jepko for nearly one million listeners. Presented on the show was Jerry Winters' new record album, "Jerry Winters Captures Cannery Row," issued on the Outrigger label.

Isabelle Lambert

Graveside services for Mrs. Isabelle Lambert, who died in a local hospital Friday after an extended illness, were held Tuesday in Sunnyside Memorial Park in Long Beach.

A former resident of Long Beach, Mrs. Lambert had made her home for the past eight years with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Jett of Hatton Fields Mesa.

She was born in Buffalo, New York, on June 26, 1881.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Lambert leaves a son, Weldon Lambert of London, England; a sister, Mrs. Katherine Brennan of Long Beach; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Her husband, George Lambert, died in 1959.

The Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel was in charge of local arrangements.

Republicans To Honor Congressman Tonight

A public reception honoring Congressman Burt L. Talcott will formally open his 12th district campaign headquarters at 140 West Franklin Street, Monterey, this evening from 5 to 7 p.m. The affair will also honor Mrs. Talcott.

Congressman Talcott is home during the Easter recess of Congress and to begin his campaign for re-election for a third term.

Committee Chairman Mrs. Stephen Sassoon of Carmel, urges that citizens, irrespective of party affiliation, attend the function and meet the Congressman and his

Candidate Speaks In Santa Barbara

Gerald V. Barron, Monterey attorney who is a Democratic Congressional candidate in the 12th Congressional District, recently participated in a symposium devoted to the pervasive social and economic consequences of cybernation (automation) at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara.

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the center, which is sponsored by the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Republic, chaired the meeting, which was also attended by a distinguished panel including Rexford Tugwell, who was special assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt during the New Deal period; W. H. Ferry, author of "Triple Revolution" and a member of the permanent staff of the center; and Jacques Fresco, an engineer from Miami, Florida.

The results of this meeting will be transcribed and will be made available in a publication of the center, according to Mr. Barron who resides in Carmel Riviera.

Next Play At Circle

Jean Giraudoux's highly successful comedy, "The Madwoman of Chaillot" is scheduled to begin a seven-week engagement under the auspices of the Community Theatre on April 22.

When this Gallic comedy made its 1945 premiere in France, it touched off heated discussions, but always created a sensation. The play ran for 13 months in Paris to capacity audiences.

It was adapted into English by Maurice Valency and presented in New York in December, 1948. The play realized a hearty full-year run on Broadway, followed by a highly successful 20-week tour through 11 major cities.

Frederick Rider is staging the Carmel presentation. "The Madwoman of Chaillot" will run through June 4, playing Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights at the Circle Theatre.

ROSES TOPIC FOR GARDEN CLUB

"Roses — Their Care and Culture" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. F. S. Bauersfeld, guest speaker for the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club meeting at the Carmel Foundation Town House on April 21 at 8 p.m. Mrs. Bauersfeld, a resident of Santa Barbara, is known to many as the radio personality "Mirandy."

Peter Kutschera, past president, will officiate at the installation of the club's new officers.

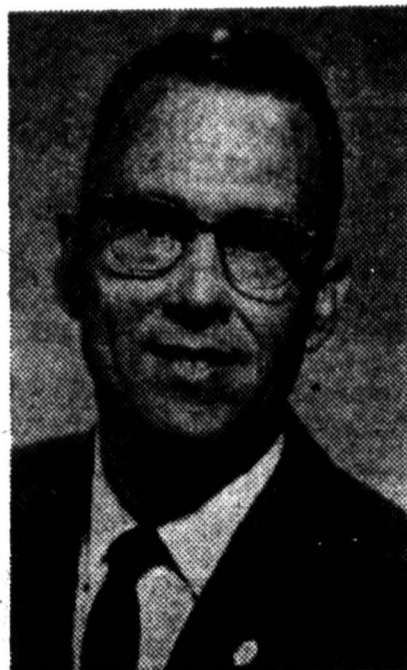

Everyone is welcome to the meeting, which will be followed by the serving of refreshments.

Noted Educator To Speak Here Tuesday

The last of the Adventures In Education forums presented by the Carmel Adult School will be on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. in Brey Hall at Carmel High School. Dr. Marion C. Donaldson, superintendent of the Amphitheater Public Schools of Tucson, Arizona, will discuss "The Market Place of the Gods."

Dr. Donaldson is a leader in an administrative group that is giving teachers more time to instruct by releasing them from routine duties. This program, which provides controlled variable scheduling and allows teachers to do daily rescheduling to meet individual needs of pupils, has received national recognition.

The author of numerous published textbooks, Dr. Donaldson is currently co-authoring a book on innovations in education.

Josephine Leist

Private services for Mrs. Josephine Leist, who died April 5 in a local hospital after a lengthy illness, were held April 7 at the Mark-Hull Mortuary in Walnut Creek, followed by burial in Mount Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

A resident of Carmel for the past year, Mrs. Leist was born in San Francisco on March 20, 1917.

She is survived only by her husband, Thomas Leist of Carmel.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

You have heard of walking a mile for a cigarette but how about driving 30 miles for a hamburger?

We must hasten to add that this isn't "just a meat patty." This is the famous ambrosiaburger exclusive with Nepenthe. At that picturesque rendezvous you'll forget your worldly cares.

Nepenthe stands beside the original Log House at Big Sur, 808 feet above sea level. When Lolly and Bill Fassett took over the property they realized that the magnitude of the vistas was too overwhelming to keep to themselves.

"No individual can own it, for this place should belong to everyone," said Lolly. So out of their perceptiveness Nepenthe grew into an isle of no-care. The restaurant building is so constructed of native materials — redwood and adobe—that it is as one with the sheer cliff it stands on.

But man cannot live on views alone which gets us back to Lolly's superb ambrosiaburger. Made of the choicest sirloin ground beef and grilled to order over red hot charcoal, it is served on a French roll in a basket with one's choice of salads—garbanzo-kidney, tossed green or crunchy cole slaw. This sounds simple enough but part of the magic is the atmosphere, the cheerful waiters and the casual but well coordinated service that goes with the enormously popular food.

There are many beverages to appease the curious such as the Greek aperitif "ouzo... like yesterday absinthe."

The winding, twisting drive to Big Sur and the most dramatic coastal scenery imaginable will excite your appetite and no one will leave without regret.

The fascinating pavilion-cafe is open from noon until midnight daily. Besides the ambrosiaburgers there are Lolly's special sandwiches until 4 p.m.

She also produces the Nepenthe Salad Bowl served with a really classic French dressing, or the Nepenthe special blue cheese dressing, a tangy, tantalizing olive oil and wine vinegar base with fresh herbs and crumbled bleu cheese.

For dinner there is a superior charcoal broiled steak (New York cut) dinner or the Phoenix Bird's Favorite Steak Sandwich which is generous indeed.

Sometimes you'll choose a plump-breasted broiled chicken, or a charcoal flavored ground sirloin specialty glorified with melted cheddar cheese and chopped green onions. Delightful with an out-of-this-world salad and a red burgundy. Or your guests might prefer a wonderful grilled-in-butter swordfish steak. Lolly suggests half a squab chicken with her own gourmet fresh sage dressing and cranberries. It is even more delectable with a fragrant Moselle wine.

Here are some tips for made-at-home best beef burgers, truly America's favorite. Always handle ground beef lightly. Gentle handling keeps it tender. To shape an ample patty, use 8 oz. per serving. We will now give a few ways to prepare this usually satisfying (but sometimes dreary) standby:

REALTORS PLAN CONFERENCE

HOME-ON-THE-RANGE BURGERS

(Serves 2)

One lb. best ground beef; 1 clove garlic; 1 green onion, minced; 1 tbsp. chili sauce; 1 egg; 1 tbsp. prepared horseradish-mustard; 1 tsp. A-1 sauce; sourdough french rolls, split; butter; salt and cracker pepper; sliced dill pickles.

Blend burgers with a quick deft touch. Form into 2 thick or 4 thinner patties. Broil over red hot coals to desired doneness. Medium rare makes the juiciest and lightest texture. Serve between toasted rolls, add salt and pepper to taste. Pass the pickles!

MEXICALI FIESTA BURGERS

(Serves 2 or 4)

One lb. best ground beef; 1 small green pepper, finely chopped; 1 small onion, minced; 1 tsp. chili powder; 1 tbsp. chili sauce; dash of Tabasco; mashed avocado topping; tortillas.

Blend and broil over charcoal to desired doneness. Put each patty between two fried tortillas. Add mashed seasoned avocado sauce "por favor." It makes a difference.

EAST INDIAN BURGERS

(Serves 2 or 4)

One lb. best ground beef; 1 small onion, minced; 1 clove garlic, minced; 1 egg; 1 1/2 tsps. curry powder; 2 tbsps. chutney.

Blend and form into 2 or 4 patties. Broil over charcoal and serve over flaky hot rice... or between thinly sliced rye bread.

CHEDDAR HAMBURGER STEAKS

(Makes 6 patties)

Two lbs. best ground beef; salt and cracked Java pepper; 1 lb. cheddar cheese, grated; choice of bottled barbecue sauce. Split hard or soft rolls; butter; pickle relish; sliced onions.

Season meat with salt and pepper; mold into 12 equal patties; pack centers of 6 patties down quickly and lightly to form hollows; sprinkle cheese over all. Cover cheese with remaining patties and mold together. Barbecue over red hot coals some 6 inches from heat about 5 minutes per side; pour barbecue sauce over or serve on the side. Toast the sourdough split hard or soft rolls and butter them. Put patties between rolls or have open-face. Garnish with pickle relish and sliced Bermuda or red onions if desired. A vegetable stick salad with Roquefort dressing, fresh peaches and cream (in season) or pickled peach halves and pound cake hit the spot with this type of hamburger. Always coffee and milk and, usually, beer team up.

BIG SUR PATTIES

(Serves 4-6)

Two lbs. ground beef; 1 tsp. seasoned salt; 1/2 tsp. cracked pepper; 1 slice stale bread, cubed; 1/2 cup red wine; 1/2 cup chopped green onions; 2 tbsps. chopped watercress or spinach; 1 garlic clove, minced; long French bread loaf; sliced tomatoes; Bermuda onion.

Combine ingredients (excepting bread, tomato and onion slices) Mold meat in shape of long French loaf of bread about 3/4 inch thick. Barbecue over hot coals 6 inches from heat; about 5 minutes on each side. Split loaf of French bread lengthwise. Toast on grill. Place slices of tomato, onion, then meat between bread. Cut into serving-size sandwiches. Shades of Nepenthe!

As you can see, these recipes are not according to Lolly. But just go down and bask on the terrace at Nepenthe and gaze at the sometimes wild and sometimes calm Pacific. Then go for her incomparable ambrosiaburger whose secret ingredient is still Nepenthe's own!

GENERAL CAGWIN PROMOTED

Major General Leland G. Cagwin, commander of the US Army Combat Developments Command Experimentation Command located at Fort Ord, received his second star on April 1, in promotion ceremonies held at the Fort Ord Officers Club, with military and civilian friends in attendance. Seen above pinning on General Cagwin's new stars are his wife, Jacqueline, and Major General Robert McClure (USA ret.) of Carmel.

who was not only a former commander of Fort Ord, but also commander of the 35th Regiment, 25th Division, when it landed on Guadalcanal during World War II, with General Cagwin as one its lieutenants. The CDCEC commander will depart in May to take command of the U.S. Army Test and Evaluation Command, headquartered at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Maryland. Mrs. Cagwin and their two sons and daughter will follow him to his new assignment at the completion of the school year in June. Mrs. Cagwin is the daughter of Howard Smith, a Carmel artist, and lived here until her marriage to General Cagwin when he was stationed at Monterey Presidio as a lieutenant.

Kenneth Walker

Private family services were held Friday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, for Kenneth Stewart Walker, prominent Pebble Beach resident and a partner in the investment firm of Yates, Andrews and Walker, Inc. of Carmel. Although in ill health, his death earlier the same day in a local hospital was unexpected.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. G. Walker of New York City, he was born October 30, 1905, in that city.

Mr. Walker was graduated from St. Paul's School in Concord, New Hampshire, and Harvard University, after which he studied at the University of Grenoble in France. His banking career began in the Paris office of the Central Hanover Bank of New York, in whose London branch he was also employed before becoming a vice president in the New York home office of the bank. After 12 years in that capacity, he came to the West Coast as vice president and trust officer of Security Trust and Savings Bank of San Diego. In 1964, Mr. Walker was named a vice president and member of the board of directors of Security National Bank of Monterey County, a position he resigned in early 1965 to become a partner in the Carmel investment firm.

Possessed of a strong sense of community service, his efforts on behalf of the Alcoholism Council of the Monterey Peninsula, of which he was vice chairman, were recognized and appreciated by all who knew him.

Mr. Walker, who served as a lieutenant colonel in the Air Transport Command during World War II, was a member of the Military Order of World Wars, the Air Force Association and the Reserve Officers Association. He belonged also to the Racquet Club and the River Club of New York City, Cypress Point Club of Pebble Beach, the Old Capital Club of Monterey and was a member of the advisory board of White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley.

He is survived by his wife, Nancy, elder daughter of Samuel F. B. Morse of Pebble Beach; two daughters, Anne Walker of San Francisco and Mrs. Robert M. Gibbs of Arvada, Wyoming; and two sisters, Mrs. C. Pendleton Lewis of Stonington, Connecticut, and Mrs. Ralph Stoddard of Dunlap, California.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Mr. Walker may do so to the Community Hospital Building Fund, Box HH, Carmel.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Rotary Club Hears Talk On Independent Business Program

At yesterday's Carmel Rotary Club luncheon, the speaker was M. C. Brooks, division manager of the National Federation of Independent Business. He said his group is endeavoring to inform people of the need to cut the number of persons who are takers of government funds, and to increase those who support the government by their funds. If this isn't accomplished, he pointed out, we shall all eventually work for the government, and that is communism.

He also stated the federation has worked out a system whereby an independent businessman is polled each month on the major issues before our Congress. After the individual has voted on these issues, he sends them to a local businessman who serves as chairman. The chairman in Carmel is Shelburn Robison, an attorney. The information is sifted and broadly published. On this basis over 600 conferences were held with Congressmen and their staff members during the first nine months of last year.

Blanks And Sefton Elected To Council

A total of 1,188 voters went to the polls Tuesday and elected Mayor Herbert Blanks to a second four-year term on the city council with a total of 723 votes. William Sefton was elected to a first four-year term by 523 votes.

Third in the race was Dr. James Gilman with 465 votes. Carvel Baldwin obtained 402 votes and Erik Jensen 155. These totals include 21 absentee ballots.

Pon Chung, Carmel's unofficial candidate in all city elections, was given two votes on Tuesday.

Only 40.76 percent of Carmel's 2,914 registered voters cast ballots.

The two councilmen will be sworn into office by City Clerk Hugh Bayless on April 19. Following this action, the five councilmen will elect a mayor for the next two years. Holdover councilmen are Eben Whittlesey, Stephen Grant and Gunnar Norberg.

PRINCETON DEAN OF CHAPEL TO PREACH HERE SUNDAY

Sunday morning, the guest preacher at the Carmel Presbyterian Church will be the Reverend Dr. Ernest Gordon, Dean of the Chapel at Princeton University.

Dr. Gordon is the author of "Through the Valley of the Kwai" in which he tells the story of his three and one-half years in the death camp by the River Kwai when he and other prisoners of war lived in a community of forgotten men.

Upon his release in 1945, Ernest Gordon began theological studies in Edinburgh, receiving a fellowship to Hartford Seminary in Connecticut. Then he became assistant minister for three years at the historic Abbey of Paisley in Scotland. Because of his interest in working with students, Dr. Gordon came to the United States—first serving as pastor at Princeton University, then was appointed Dean of the Chapel.

'Operation Update'

The second lecture in the "Operation Update 1966" series at Monterey Peninsula College will be on April 21. The speaker will be Harold Gilliam, author and conservationist, who will discuss "The Environmental Crisis."

This is the sixth year that MPC and the Monterey Peninsula branch of the American Association of University Women have presented the "capsule college-refresher course" for Peninsula women. No charge is made for the lectures which are held in the library lecture hall on the MPC campus starting at 10 a.m. A nursery service is provided in Room LL-2 situated behind the library.

LITTLE LEAGUE PLAY STARTS APRIL 23

Approximately 200 boys have qualified for play in the Carmel Little League for the season which will begin April 23. The unprecedented turnout assures competition between eight minor and six major league teams this year.

As in the past, Little League Auxiliary members will have the task of staffing the snack bar and offering the many small but important services without which a successful season would be impossible. At the auxiliary's meeting Monday, Mrs. Pat Dormody was elected president to succeed Mrs. Gene Vandervort, who received a heartfelt vote of thanks for her stewardship last year.

Editor's Column . . .

candidate. This indicates that the majority of the citizens who made the effort to vote expressed confidence in the actions of the council during the past two years.

Had the widespread dissatisfaction which, publicly and frequently, the council was told existed among the citizenry during the past year been a reality, Tuesday's vote would have overwhelmingly demonstrated the unrest.

Actually, Tuesday's election showed that voters were apparently not too sure about choosing a candidate whose past service on the council they were unable to evaluate.

The three candidates next in line to Mayor Blanks were separated from one another by only fractions of the majority he was accorded. All of them were seeking first terms as councilmen.

William Sefton, the other successful candidate, promised during his campaign that he stood for "a harmonious council."

The only disharmony on the council in the past two years has been expressed over and over again by a 4-1 vote on many matters. The councilman who, most frequently, cast the dissenting vote, Gunnar Norberg, was often supported by groups of applauding citizens.

It is to be hoped that these citizens went to the polls and voted because, unfortunately, Tuesday's election proved one indisputable fact—59.64 percent of the registered voters in Carmel don't care enough about the government of their city, also the future of their community, to go to the polls and cast a ballot.

M.L.

Cornelia Matthew

Mrs. Cornelia Comstock Matthew, a resident of Carmel for the past 17 years, died in a local hospital late yesterday following a lengthy illness.

A native of Evanston, Illinois, she was born on August 1, 1887. With her husband, Winfield Scott Matthew, she made her home at Torres and Eighth Streets.

In addition to her husband, survivors include a sister, Mrs. George Seidenbeck of Carmel Valley and three brothers, Dr. John Adams Comstock Jr. of Del Mar, George Franklin Comstock of Mill Valley and Judge James Hilliard Comstock of Santa Rosa.

Private services for Mrs. Matthew have been held at the Mission Mortuary.

HIGH TWELVE CLUB EVENTS

On Sunday, Carmel High Twelve Club members and their families will attend the 9:30 a.m. service at the Church of the Wayfarer as a group.

At the club's regular luncheon meeting on Monday, a film loaned by the San Francisco Giants, "McGraw to Mays," will be shown. All sojourning regular Masons are invited to attend.

Public Invited To Hear Trio At MPC

The Francesco Chamber Trio—violinist David Abel, cellist Bonnie Hampton and pianist Nathan Schwartz—will appear in concert tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall.

The public is invited to attend without charge. No tickets will be required for admission.

David Abel made his professional debut with the San Francisco Symphony in 1953 and his New York debut the following year at Town Hall. Since that time he has concertized with orchestras from Boston to Honolulu and has appeared at the Carmel Bach Festival and was concertmaster for the Monterey County Symphony two seasons ago.

Dog New Recruit On Police Force

Seaside has nothing on Carmel—we have a police dog, too, though it's doubtful he's any match for Caesar. The fine looking German shepherd, ownership unknown, wandered into the Carmel police station yesterday and unreservedly adopted the complete force, showing a slight preference for the cozy, if confining, quarters of Chief Klamann and Captain Ellis.

Calls to local animal shelters have brought no response, and the staff's half-hearted orders to "Go home!" are to no avail. Rover continues to follow his heroes' cars, help raise the flag at Devendorf Plaza and indiscriminately offer his devotion to his new-found friends.

Paintings Wanted For Fire Station

Carmel's fire chief, Bob Baker, thinks pictures would considerably enhance the fire house, also keep it in character with the community.

Purchase of paintings by local artists is beyond the fire department's budget and the scope of the volunteer firemen's finances. But Chief Bob wonders if there are any citizens, or artists, who would loan, or donate, paintings. Preferred would be local seascapes or landscapes.

The paintings will be placed in the department's offices and the volunteers' social room.

The fire house is one location where excessive fire insurance costs, also fire protection, should not prove a deterrent.

Taxpayers Assoc. Offers To Study School Finances

pert" to review the overall picture.
"Are you saying we are operating inefficiently and ineffectually?" Trustee Dr. Hilton Bialek asked.
"I do not believe I have ever said that," countered Mr. Arnot. He added he was sure there was some way to raise funds without raising the tax rate.

"You have said you are against state and federal aid," observed Trustee Clayton Neill Jr. in an endeavor to discover Mr. Arnot's stand on ideas where financial aid to the district could be obtained.
"This cure is worse than the disease," Mr. Arnot replied. Previously he had deplored state and federal assistance as it tended to destroy "local control."

He also objected to "outside" aid on the grounds that it could introduce strings which "tied up freedom of action and diluted local authority." This would result in a "rubber stamp" situation and "complete regimentation," he added. Mr. Arnot advocated that the proper procedure was to "attack the budget" by means of a committee study.

Mr. Neill pointed out that the board had "bent over backwards" in appointing a committee, which it thought represented a cross section of the community, to study the financial situation of the district six months ago. This group had recommended an override tax and the board had acted on this advice.

Any proposed new study committee should be composed of representatives appointed by many organizations, he suggested.

Mrs. J. David Reed, parent of children in the school system, asked that "clear ground rules" be established for this committee. Study should be confined to budget classifications leaving ungraded instruction and team teaching to professional decisions "not the popular vote," she stated.

Dr. Bialek agreed. Mrs. Blanks asked that all organizations submit names to the board. This met with the approval of Trustee Steven Sassoon.

Chairman Dr. Robert Newton closed the one hour and 45 minute discussion on Mr. Arnot's report as president of the taxpayers association by setting a special meeting next Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in Brey Hall. At this time, any representatives to the study committee proposed by organizations, also individuals, will be considered by the school board.
"You may appoint yourself," Dr. Newton advised the over 200 persons in the audience.

Mrs. Blanks asked Mr. Arnot to present to the board at the same meeting more information on the special fund he had told the board about.

"If you are interested, they will come forward," Mr. Arnot had claimed earlier in the evening.

"It is obvious we are interested," was Mr. Neill's comment.

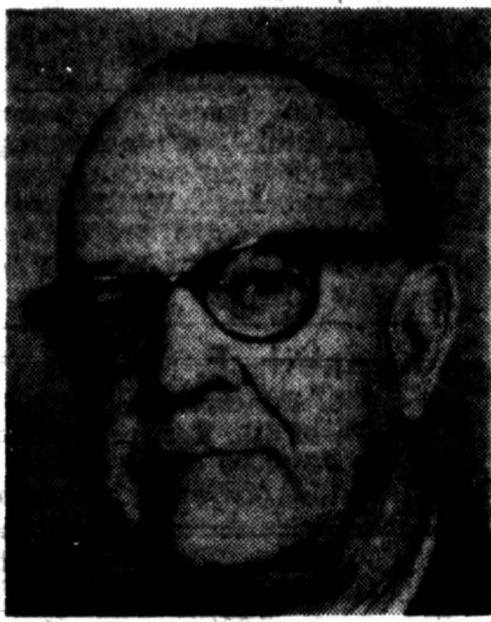

Among persons who joined in the discussion on Mr. Arnot's report were Robert E. Little, Dr. Joseph Noto, Mrs. Raymond Mapstead, Mrs. Marjorie Hirschkind, Leonard Olson, Dr. Howard McFann, John J. Walsh, Mrs. Annette Zang Thorne, Eben Swift, Dr. Don Harrison and Mrs. Ruth Herman-son.

RETIRED TEACHERS MEET WEDNESDAY

Retired teachers and their guests are invited to the regular bi-monthly luncheon meeting of the Monterey County Division of the California Retired Teachers' Association on Wednesday. The group will meet at 12:15 in the Veterans memorial building, Fifth Street and Llano Avenue in Spreckels. Reservations may be made through Saturday by phoning Mrs. James Walker in Salinas (424-8566).

WILLIAM SEFTON ELECTED
William Sefton, successful city council candidate, says to the people of Carmel:

"I am grateful for the confidence the voters of Carmel have indicated by electing me to your council. This very serious responsibility is accepted with the full confidence on my behalf that you will give me full cooperation and guidance.

"This responsibility must be shared by everyone, we must maintain our economy to the benefit of all and also protect the aesthetics of our community. This can only be done through cooperation and understanding on the entire community level. There can no longer be misgivings as to who protects these aesthetics and who gives them away.

"We have before us for immediate consideration the police station and corporation yard facilities and the Sunset Center development under the direction of our Sunset Commission. I am in favor of both these projects which should get started without further delay. Our vote was not decisive, it should be clarified and decided by you, the citizens, at council chamber meetings. It is my request you participate in these meetings and give the council help in making decisions to the benefit of Carmel.

"There will be other matters of vital interest that should be decided by all of the citizens in Carmel. It is my desire to have them made known well in advance of council meeting dates so we, the council, can have your guidance in making final council decisions.

"If we are to have a cooperative council, we must have full cooperation from all the citizens as to your desires.

"As a devoted councilman I have resigned all activities on a Peninsula level and substantially reduced my activities in the Six Cities Fund and Antipollution Association so as to serve my full time to the preservation of Carmel.

"I am your servant as a councilman and will appreciate your personal contact so as to carry out your desires.

"My sincere thanks to all campaign workers and the Klenke Committee for their help in this campaign."

'Keep Athletics' Parents, Teachers Advise Trustees

ent with necessary economies, attempt to provide a competitive salary schedule for teachers and balance the budget, Superintendent Medill Bair reported.

Necessary reduction, he indicated, will result in a minimum ten percent reduction in staff in all classifications (administrators, teachers, special instructors, clerks and custodians).

Trustee Dr. Hilton Bialek became the focus of discussion on the high school interscholastic athletic program when he said, "It is quite clear it has a relatively low priority educational value."

"If you remove this program you will take away the heart of the school," Coach Robert Walthour stated and was vociferously applauded by the audience which overflowed the seating capacity of Brey Hall.

Tor Spindler, Monterey Peninsula

la College football coach and the parent of sons at Carmel High, stated that elimination of this $17,500 budget item would alienate people more than any other action of the board. Tom Tousey, Lew McCreery, Commander William Stowers, Doug Adams, high school student body president Dave Erickson, high school coach Jason Harbert, James Kelsey, Lloyd Miller and Rick Shaw lined up solidly behind Coach Walthour in the contest to get the board to retain this program.

Mrs. Romaine Hill, an instructor at the high school, defended "the intangible spirit of the school" provided by interschool sports.

Donald Craig, a language teacher for 25 years at the high school, also a coach for most of this time, told the board that when boys compete in interschool sports they do better scholastically; are less trouble in school; and "are not the boys you see downtown." There is a need in our society for sports where "boys can prove themselves," he added.

"Boys who go out for sports are on the honor roll. You can't cut out interschool competition, the boys will have nothing to live up to," he concluded. There was loud applause again.

Dr. Don Harrison observed that many persons who opposed the override tax, which necessitated consideration of elimination of this particular sports program, seemed to support continuing it, and might be able to scrape up extra fees to maintain the program. "If we are interested enough in it, we will support it," he emphasized.

Trustee Clayton Neill defended retention of interschool sports which would only effect a one percent saving in the budget.

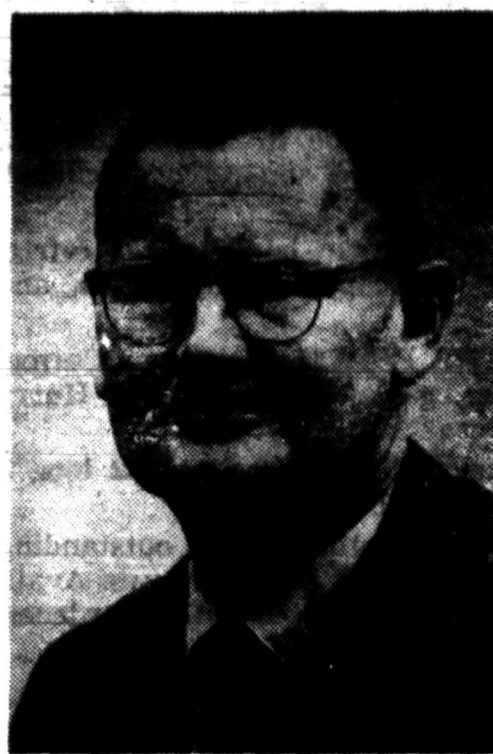

"That equals two teachers," said Dr. Bialek who earlier had commented that he felt he had failed as a school board member if the heart of the school was an athletic program, not "the adventure of learning. I am not against sports but can't we create a man in intramural athletics. I have never heard a good argument against this," he commented.

Trustee Mrs. Roxanna Blanks advocated retaining interschool sports. Trustee Steven Sassoon disagreed with Coach Walthour's statement that this program was the heart of the school. He proposed, however, that consideration should be given to cuts in all programs before one was eliminated and the board decided to examine the overall financial picture before acting on the interscholastic athletic program.

"We are not considering its elimination because we desire to but because we must consider where subsidizing the instructional program takes priority," Chairman Dr. Robert Newton stressed.

"Sports is a budget category where the citizenry can assist with non-tax revenues," he concluded.

MAYOR BLANKS REELECTED

"I am gratified that the people of Carmel have enough confidence in my past service to the city to reelect me for another term," Mayor Herbert Blanks told the Pine Cone yesterday.

He remarked that the first thing for a new city council to do is to reevaluate actions of the previous council.

"I am sure that matters pending will move at a rapid rate once the individual councilmen appraise their positions in the new relationship," he predicted. Mayor Blanks also wished to thank publicly all citizens who actively supported his campaign for a second term on the council.

Annual 'Lawn' Fete For Dogs Next Week

The annual Carmel Lawn Party for Dogs will be on Wednesday from 10 a.m. till noon—but the "lawn" will be the grassless city hall parking lot, according to the city's finance officer, Arthur Plaxton, who welcomes all canine guests of the city on this occasion.

Offered at the "party" will be vaccinations against rabies and dog licenses, both at reduced cost.

The Monterey County Health Department, in cooperation with local veterinarians and the city, sponsors the annual event. Cost of the vaccination, which is required every two years for all dogs over four months old, will be $1.50. Mr. Plaxton will issue dog licenses for $2 and adds that this reduced price will prevail through May.

So far this year, he has issued licenses for 332 dogs. Each wearer of a license tag is free to roam the residential areas but prohibited from wandering unleashed in the business district.

KIWANIS LEARNED OF FOREIGN AID

At the regular meeting last Thursday, Kiwanis members heard Kenneth Mayall, economic specialist with the U.S. Department of State, speak on this country's foreign aid. Mr. Mayall, an engineer, political economist and linguist, explained the history of foreign aid, its administration and its effect on foreign policy.

My Sincere Thanks ...

I am encouraged and gratefully appreciative of the many supporters and friends who gave their time and good wishes in my behalf.

My efforts to resolve the communal affairs that affect us all in Carmel will be doubly intensified with the knowledge that you, the voters, are desirous of responsible city government.
